THE Parish Church of St. Martin Outwich (which has been recently pulled down) was situated the Corner of Threadneedle Street, in Bishopsgate Street, and in the Ward of Broad Street, near to a Pump mentioned by Stow as a Well with two Buckets, whose Water was much celebrated: probably the Pump described in Plate I. was the original.

This Parish is a Rectory, in the Diocese and Archdeaconry of London; it is in the Gift of the Merchant Taylors Company, containing the South Sea House and twelve Dwellings on the North Side of Threadneedle Street, with Merchant Taylors Hall and eight Dwellings on the South Side, and one House in White Lion Court, Cornhill, in the Ward of Broad Street; it also contains in the Ward of Bishopsgate, the City Chambers and six Dwellings South of the Church, on the West Side of Bishopsgate Street, with fourteen Dwellings on the East Side, also four Dwellings on the West Side thereof, North of the South Sea House, containing in all forty-six Houses.

This Parish appears to be very ancient, for in the Taxation (made by Order of Pope Nicholas) of all Benefices and other Ecclesiastical Possessions throughout England in 19 Edward I. (Anno 1291) and which is yet remaining. In his Majesty's Remembrancer's Office, Exchequer, are the following entries:

Inter "Bona Prioris de Bermondsey in Parochiis
" Sancti Martini Otteswich - - - - - iij."

"Bona Prioris St. Bartholomei in Parochiis
" Sancti Martini Otteswich - - - - - xx."

"Bona Prioris S. Trin. in Parochiis
" Sancti Martini de Otteswich - - - - - xxj."

"Bona Conv. Westminster.
" Sancti Martini de Otteswich - - - - - xxij."

"Bona Prior. de Suthwerk
" Sancti Martini de Otteswich - - - viij. vj."

The two first Valuations are also recorded in an ancient MS in the British Museum, (Harl. MS 60) and differ only in the Spelling of the Name "Oteswych;" the Word Bona, alludes to the temporal Possessions only.

Also in an ancient MS of the Average of Rents, Fermes, Tenements, &c. belonging to "Dame Marie Rollesley," the last Priorefs of St. Helens, in the Possession of Richard Gough, Esq. at Enfield, there is "Thomas

Rico Berde ut supra & or ut supra, A°. xxiiij.^{clo}

It does not appear when the Church was first built, but " it acquired the Name of Owtewich, or rather Oteswich (as Stow says) from Martin de Oteswich, Nicholas de Oteswich, William Oteswich and John Oteswich, Founders thereof, and all buried there, as appeareth by their ancient Monument;" he also mentions John Oteswich and his Wife, under a fayre Monument on the South Side. Quere, whether the Monument which stood in the South East Angle of the Church, facing Northward, see Pl. IV. Fig. 1.
(which evidently appears to be only a Part of the original Monument, and has no Inscription) was the only Monument, or whether there was another to that Family, of a prior Date, as Stow seems to intimate.

It appears that John Churchman, a very public spirited Citizen (who amongst his many beneficial Acts towards this City, built the Custom House near the Tower, and served Sheriff 1385) acted as Trustee to William and John Oteswich, and (by Licence of Henry IV. the 6th of his Raigne) gave the Advowson or Patronage of this Church, four Messuages and seventeen Shops with the Appurtenances in the Parish of St. Martin's Oteswich, &c. to the Master and Wardens of Taylors and Linnen Armorers, Keepers of the Guild, and Fraternity of St. John Baptist in London, and to their Successors, in perpetual Almes, to be imployed on the poor Brethren and Sisters.

" Whereupon, adjoyning upon the West End of this Parish Church, the said Master and Wardens builded (about a proper Quadrant or squared Court) seven Almes Houses, wherein they placed seven Almes Men of that Company, and their Wives (if they had Wives), each of these seven of old Time had 14d. the Weeke, but now of later Time, their Stipend by the said Master and Wardens hath beene augmented to the Summe of 26s. the Quarter, which is 5l. 4s. the Yeere to each of them, besides Coales.
More, to each of them 20s. the Yeere, by Gift of Walter Fish, sometime Master of that Company and Taylor to her Majesty."

The Front of the above Alms Houses are exhibited in Pl. I. between the Church and the Hall, in Threadneedle Street.

Before the Year 1347 (21 Edw. III.) this Church was in the Gift of John Earl of Warren and Surrey, who died without Issue, and left his Lands to the Crown, from whom it is probable John Churchman purchased the Advowson for William and John Otes- wich.

The

The Length of the Church was 66 Feet, Breadth 33, Height of the Roof 31, and of the Tower, &c. to the Vane 65. The Walls were built of Brick and Stone, covered with a Finishing, the Roof was tiled, supported with Stone Columns and Arches of a Gothic Tuscan Order, which formed two Aisles; the Windows were modern Gothic, and the Chancel was one Step higher than the Body of the Church; the Cieling was Wood, pannelled and painted, and there was a Gallery at the West End, with a Steeple containing two Bells, but the Parish Clerk's Remarks on London 12mo. 1732 (very scarce) p. 93. says, there were five Bells; however, the new View of London, 8vo. 1708, p. 356, mentions four Bells, and at the pulling down the Church, there were Holes for four Bell Ropes.

The Church was wainscotted about 8 Feet high, and the Chancel 11, in a Gothic Stile, as were the Pews and Pulpit, which formerly was on the South Side, and ascended by Stone Stairs from the Parsonage House.

The Altar Piece had the Commandments in black Letters on Gold, between the Portraits of Moses and Aaron, on the Outside of which were the Lord's Prayer and Creed, and above was a circular Pediment, enriched with a Groupe of Cherubims Heads, finely painted.

The Font was Marble, see Pl. V. Fig. 6.

At the East-End, facing Southward, was a monumental Painting, to the Memory of Queen Elizabeth, with the following Words, " I have fought a good Fight; I have finished my Course; I have kept the Faith," &c.

The Parsonage House adjoins the Church, Southward, in which is at present the Vestry Room, but there will be one erected in the new Church.

For want of Room within the Parish, the Inhabitants formerly used to bury in a Cemetary contiguous to St. Paul's Cathedral, since which, the present Burying Ground was purchased by Robert Hyde, Citizen and Merchant Taylor, of Robert Hand, Chaplain and Master of the Order of Priests, called by the Name of Holy Charity, with the Assent and Consent of the said Fraternity. Which Purchase was confirmed by a Deed made Oct. 26th, 1538, being the 30th Year of Henry VIII. And by this Deed it appears that the said Church Yard is in Length 51 Feet of Assize from East to West, and in Breadth at the East End 27 Feet, and at the West End 19 and $\frac{1}{2}$.

The Freehold of this Burying Ground, was by Will of the aforesaid Robert Hyde, dated Oct. 28th, 1538, given to Nicholas Wylson, Dr. of Divinity, Rector of St. Martin Outwich, and his Successors, Rectors of the said Parish, for the Use of the Parishioners thereof, to bury their Dead therein for ever. The Burying Ground is situated on the North Side of Camomile Street, which in Stow's Time was disputed between the Wards of Bishopsgate, Lime Street and Aldgate.

Stow says, Richard Naylor, Taylor, Alderman, 1483, lies buried in this Church; and Strype, says, " Dame Elizabeth Newyl, Lady of Burgavenny, buried " according to her last Will in this Parish Church, in " a Vault in the Chapel of our Lady, there, where the " Body of Richard Naylor her Husband, rested; John " and Robert, her Sons; and she appointed a Priest to " pray in the said Church for all their Souls." Which Chapel of our Lady appears to have been the East End of the South Aisle, in which Window was the Arms of Naylor, impailed with Nevil, and underneath the said Date of 1483, see Pl. XIII. Fig. 1. There was also on the North Side of the said Chapel, some Brass Plates, on a wooden Pannel, of a Man and Woman kneeling; behind the Man, the Arms of the Merchant Taylors Company, and behind the Woman, the above Arms of Naylor and Nevil.

The Family of Nevil possessed much Land in the Neighbourhood, for Stow says, " that in the Yeere " 1309, Leaden Hall belonged to Sir Hugh Nevil, " Knight, and that the Lady Alice his Widdow, made a " Feofment thereof, by the Name of Leaden Hall, with " the Advowsons of the Church of St. Peter upon " Cornhill, and other Churches, to Richard, Earle of " Arundel, and Surrey, 1362."

" More, in the Yeere, 1380, Alice Nevil, Widdow " to Sir John Nevil, Knight, of Essex, confirmed to " Thomas Cogshall, and others, the sayd Mannor of " Leaden Hall, the Advowsons, &c."

The Monument of William Clitherow, Ob. Anno 1469, and Margaret his Wife, was in the North East

East Angle, facing Southward, see Pl. V. Fig. 1. The Brass Plates at the Back of the Monument were destroyed: there was an Inscription on a Brass Fillet, round the Table Part of the Tomb, a. b. with Gold Letters, and the Interstices deeply cut and filled up with a kind of black Enamel, or Varnish; that at the West End was gone, but those in Front, are shewn, Pl. V. Fig. 2, 3, and 4, the Spaces in Fig. 3 are not sunk, but seem to have been left to insert the Date of the Wife's Death at some future Time.

The Monument of Hugh Pemberton, Taylor, Alderman, Ob. Anno 1500, and Katherine his Wife, was on the South of the Communion Table, facing the above, see Pl. VI. Fig. 1, some of the Brasses have been destroyed, and of what remains, Fig. 2 is the Arms of Pemberton and his Wife, but the Colours are not visible; Fig. 3, is the Arms of the Merchant Taylors Company; it is worthy of Remark, that this is not the Arms now borne, but a curious Specimen of the Arms granted to that Company by Sir Thomas Holme, Clarencieux King at Arms, Anno 1480, the 21st of Edward IVth, whereas the present Arms was granted by Robert Cook, Clarencieux, Anno 1586, the 29th of Elizabeth, having a Lion instead of the Holy Lamb, which is now their Crest, see the Arms in the Dedicatory Title. Fig. 4 and 5 are Scrolls issuing from the Mouths of two principal Figures of a Groupe in a kneeling Posture, the Brasses of which is gone; there was a Fillet round the Table Part of the Tomb, a. b. the first Plate of which is gone, but the rest are exhibited, Fig. 6, 7, and 8.

Stow also mentions there being Monuments in this Church, to the Memory of William Constansine, Alderman, and Emme his Wife.

Katherine, Wife to Benedict Augustine.

Sir William Driffield, Knight.

John Churchman, one of the Sheriffs in the Yeere 1385.

James Falleron. John Melchborne.

Thomas Hay, and Ellen his Wife.

Oliver and William, Sonnes to John Woodroffe, Esquire.

Mathew Pemberton, Marchant Taylor; about 1514, he gave 50l. to the repaying of St. Lawrence Chapel.

South of the Communion Rail, was a Brass plated Stone, to the Memory of John Breux, Rector of this Church, Ob. 1459, mentioned by Weever, see Pl. VII. Fig. 4.

West of the Communion Rail, was a Brass plated Stone, to the Memory of Nicholas Wotton, Batchelor of Law, Rector of this Church, Ob. 1482, see Pl. VII. Fig. 3.

Stow's Continuator, A.M. (Anthony Munday, 1618) says, on the South Side of the Communion Table was a faire engraven Stone, with the following Inscription.

Illustri ac Nobilissimo V. Domino Jacobo Falckio, Domino Zelandiæ Thesaurario, summo Consiliario Ordinum ejusdem Provinciæ, post plurimos apud plerosque Europe Reges, ac Principes obitas Honorificè Legationes, & regendarum rerum infinitas, cum omnium laude, ac admiratione curas, in extremis Ecclesiæ ac Patriæ cum hostibus luctis defuncto, Legati munere communi Patrie totius Provinciarum Belgicarum fœderatarum saluti apud Serenissimum & Potentissimum JACOBUM I. Angliæ, Scotiæ, Franciæ & Hybæniæ Regem: Hoc intestinorum receptaculum. Reliquum à funere toti⁹ molis, in Patria Zelandia pietati inter planctus posuit affinis, ex Sorore Anthony Taymon, Obijt 4. nonas Jun. 1603.

Parte solo recubo peregrino, parte paterno,
Hoc bene sic didici vivere, & hocce mori.

J. Murdisonius.

Quæ natat Oceano Zelandia corpus, Olympus
Ipse animam, peregrè hoc viscera marmor habet.

A. Hunterus.

Viscera terra Britanna tegit, Zelandia corpus,
Sic mea divisit funera parce mihi.

J. Meursius.

A. M. also says, on the North Side of the Communion Table was a Stone, to the Memory of Clemence and Richard Langley, with the following Inscription.

Here

Here lyeth the Bodie of Clemence Langley, late wife of Richard Langley, and Daughter of Thomas Whitton, Gent. And of Joane his first wife, Daughter of Robert Cresset, Esquire, who yeilded her soule to her Redeemer, the last of Aprill, 1603.

Thy zealous care to serve thy God,
Thy constant love to Husband deare,
Thy harmlesse heart to every one
Remains alive, though corps lye here.

Spes vermis & ego. R. L.
Vivit post funera Virtus. C. L.

Also the 19th Day of March, 1612, Richard Langley her Husband was here buried.

Of the two last mentioned Stones there was not the smallest Remains, unless a black Marble Stone on the North of the Communion Rail, whose Brasses were gone, should have been that of Langley.

On the South Side the Church, was a large handsome Monument, to the Memory of Alderman Staper, Ob. 1608, see Pl. VIII.

In the South Aisle, within the Chancel, was a black Marble Stone that formerly had Brasses, see Pl. V. Fig. 5, but to whose Memory is not known, the Top thereof toward the East makes it probable that it has been moved from its original Situation.

Behind the Pulpit was a plain black Marble Slab, with Gold Letters, to the Memory of George Sotherton, &c. see Pl. IV. Fig. 2. The new View of London, says, this was adorned with a pyramidal Figure between two Urns, and the following Arms, but not perfect, viz. a Fess in Chief two Crescents quartered with a Lion Rampant also borne on a Lozenge two Bars and in Chief three Martlets

In the Chancel, near the Reading Desk, was a black Marble Stone with Brass Plates, to the Memory of Thomas Wight, see Pl. IX. Fig. 1.

In the North Aisle, within the Chancel, were two flat Stones for Captain Lewis Roberts and Family, see Pl. X. Fig. 1 and 2.

In the South Aisle, in the Chancel, was a flat Stone for Robert Pinchin, and his Wife, see Pl. XI. Fig. 2.

In the South Aisle, below the Chancel, was a flat Stone for Rebecca Vincent and Family, see Pl. XI. Fig. 1.

Against a Pier, on the North Side the Church, was a handsome oval Monument for John Tufnell, see Pl. XII. Fig. 2.

Under the Communion Table, was a flat Stone for John Tufnell and his Wife, see Pl. IX. Fig. 2.

On the South Wall, was a handsome Monument for Thomas Langham, &c. see Pl. XII. Fig. 1.

North of the East Window of the South Aisle, facing Southward, was a small Monument for two Wives of Charles Goodman, see Pl. VII. Fig. 1.

South of the said Window, facing Westward, was a small Monument to Thomas Clutterbuck, &c. see Pl. VII. Fig. 2.

There were several more flat Stones, but without visible Inscriptions.

Plate XIII. represents some Arms painted on the Church Windows, Fig. 1, of Naylor and Nevil has been mentioned, Fig. 8, is very ancient and imperfect, all the rest appear to be of the same Age and Stile of Execution, which was probably at a Repair, soon after the Restoration, and are perhaps the Arms of principal Inhabitants, or Benefactors to such Repair.

The Great East Window had the King's Arms, between Fig. 2, 6, 7, and 3; Fig. 2 appears to be the Arms of John Green, Esq. then Recorder of London, and his Wife; Fig. 6, of Sir Nathaniel Barnardiston, Merchant, and his Wife, of the Family of Reynardson; Fig. 7, of John Jolliffe, Esq. and his Wife, of the Family of Boothby, buried here, as appears by the Grave Stone of Tufnell, Pl. IX. Fig. 2; Fig. 3 is that of Langham, see his Monument, Pl. XII. Fig. 1; Fig. 5, of Sir Abraham Reynardson, Merchant Taylor, Mayor, 1649, the Year King Charles I. was beheaded; this Mayor was sent to the Tower for Non-compliance; Fig. 10 is the Arms of Tufnell, quartered as on the Monument, Pl. XII. Fig. 2, impaled with that of Jolliffe, quartered with that of Boothby; Fig. 11 is probably the Arms of Sir Henry Row and his Wife, a Benefactor to the Parish.
